

removed from a large vault outside north side of the 61 building. Mr. Rosengarten stated that the vault was not installed or used by Boeing, and that the vault was approximately 50 feet deep and appeared to be filled with water. Information from the prospective purchaser assessment will be not be requested or reviewed by Boeing since there are no environmental concerns related to Boeing's occupancy of the site.

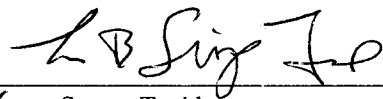

Mr. Rosengarten and Mr. Fornator stated that they were not aware of any other significant environmental concerns with the property related to the use of the property by Boeing.

Conclusions and Recommendations:

Boeing Company Office Safety, Health, and Environmental Affairs (SHEA) has reviewed the information and data provided by Robert Rosengarten and Ron Fornator on the subject property. Based on this information, SHEA concludes that there is a low probability that Boeing might incur a significant environmental liability as a result of this transaction.

Based on the findings of this assessment, no additional environmental reviews and/or assessments are required for this property.
